The Cosmopolitan Youth - Peace Train

Draft for the Fundraising
Time: 02:20 Uhr 20/01/2020

Objective: To explore the cultural gap between the western and eastern world.

In the last few centuries, the population exchange between the two worlds led to a mass cultural collision. Some colonized, some vandalized, some remained in peace whereas some promoted the nuclear state of destruction. In the direction of the future, a motivated student group from University of Potsdam is willing to organize a cultural meetup between two different world orders. The project aims to connect different kinds of lifestyles around the world and to look at this diversity from a native perspective to rediscover the values and way of life. In order to initiate the first phase of the project, this coming spring, the student group is going to visit the Himalayan belt of Asia. Individuals who are interested to support the project can contribute their precious time or wealth and always welcome to join the group in any phase of the project.

USE CASES:

A) Socio-economic study:
1. Understanding the food habits, traditions and how they are related to the regional ecosystems and the socio-economic conditions.
2. Understanding the folk music, festivals of the region and how it is related to the lifestyle and history of the inhabitants.
3. Understanding the intersection of native perspectives with those of the government, its laws and regulations.
4. Understanding the impact of different ideologies, and their intersections and collisions at the ground level.
